

Your music teaching forum ad

Wednesday, 05 December 2007

Hello music teachers!

So you were good kids, and you signed up for forums and directories, that's great!

These types of forums usually bring a lot of students over.

However, since you last placed your ad, many other teachers have placed their ad, and your is about as easy to spot as flies on tar.

Keep a list of main forums that lead to inquiries, and update them every week.

Bump your ad up by replying to your own ad or simply post a new one.

This will keep your ad visible, and your exposure on that forum maximum.

Happy teaching!
